Time—Situation Satisfactory.

For at least the time intervening between the present and April 16, the limit set for the filing of exceptions in the State debt case before the Supreme Court, Attorney-General Will liams will devote practically his entire time to this litigation. He regards it as by far the most important proposition now before him, and for the next three or four weeks, and perhaps for some time later, he expects to give it his undivided attention. In the meantime, his assistant, Mr. Bibb, will attend to the details, or the office work. This latter is now a serious item, in view of the many demands for interpretations of laws recently passed by the General Assembly.

Judge Williams is still unwilling to talk about the situation, deeming it unwise to put the opposing State on notice as to the future course of Virginia. Spartanburg, S. C., March 22.—J. Henry Caldwell, a farmer living near here, this atterneon broke up an acre of land with 500 charges of dynamite, the explosive being used for breaking the land for cultivation instead of the plow. Mr. Caldwell calms that blasing land with dynamite is the best method for subsoiling, and that it can be done more cleaply than with a plow.
